Nick Lowe Hoot Nite and Benefit Show

When and where?

Friday, February 22nd, 8 p.m. – 2 a.m., at the Hole in the Wall (2538 Guadalupe, Austin)

Who's the contact?

Brent Lyles: (512) 773-9789 or brentlyles@gmail.com (Organizer, and guitar for The Lowelies)

What is it?

Four rockin' Austin bands celebrating of the 30th Anniversary Reissue—nay, Resurrection—of Nick Lowe's legendary album, JESUS OF COOL. Proceeds go to charity; CD giveaways courtesy of Yep Roc Records.

Who's in it?

- Elizabeth McQueen (Pub-rock aficionado and member of Asleep at the Wheel – 8 pm)
- The Lowelies (Austin's favorite Nick Lowe tribute band for 2 years running... – 9:30 pm)
- Ron Flynt & Eric Hisaw (A highlight act on Lowe Profile, a recent Nick tribute album – 11 pm)
- Mandible (Rock rock rock from some big Nick fans, say no more – 12:30 am)

Why is Austin better than Portland, Seattle, Cambridge, Nashville, Columbus, Cincinnati, and Philly?

Yep Roc Records (the ones releasing JESUS OF COOL on Tuesday, February 19th) are throwing a record-release party in every one of these cities. Ours will be the most kick-ass of them all, of course! We've got more bands, amazing talent, a charity angle, and an actual Nick Lowe tribute band. Plus, we are darned good-looking. More info on Yep Roc and the reissue at: www.yeproc.com

I'm a media person—what can you do for me?

Do you need your car washed? Seriously though, we're happy to provide folks from the various bands for interviews, on-air chats, live music, etc. They don't call Nick Lowe a cult hero for nothing—these musicians LOVE to talk about Nick's music and what it's meant to them. And once your audience hears it, they'll love it too, guaranteed.

What's this about a charity angle?

That's right, every $5 donation at the door will support Anthropos Arts, which brings Austin's hottest jazz and Latin musicians into Title I public schools to offer free workshops, individualized lessons, and other music-education programs. Learn more about Anthropos Arts at: www.anthropos.org.
